ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Methods and apparatus are disclosed for monitoring data for detection of various events. More particularly, an agent is adapted for monitoring data indicating one or more

5   events associated therewith. Through monitoring this data, one or more of a specified set of events are detected within the data. A message indicating that one or more of the specified set of events has been detected is then sent.

10